

Lewis is a university graduate given the task of directing a play as occupational therapy for patients in a Melbourne mental institution. It's the 1970's and the world outside is protesting against the Vietnam war, whilst sex, drugs & rock'n'roll abound. Inside the asylum, through his interaction with an array of quirky characters, Lewis learns that, just like beauty, madness is in the eye of the beholder and that things are not always as they seem ! Come on the journey, as Lewis finds meaning in a world full of madness.

From the comfort of the raked seating, or at a table with a group of friends, enjoy this night of "Madness, Morality, Mozart and Mayhem"

You'd be mad to miss it!
