Director's message ...

Does art imitate life?

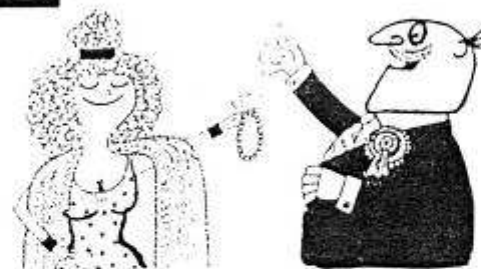

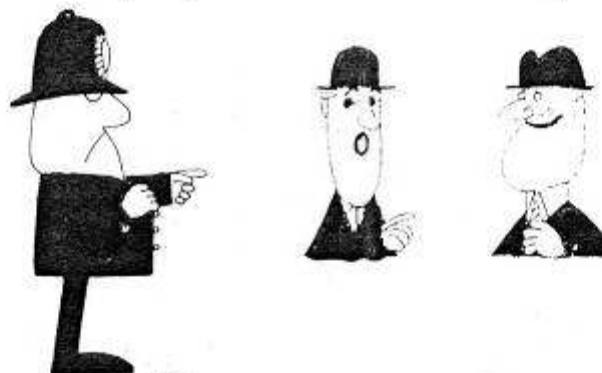

During our rehearsal period we were amused to discover that in fact life was imitating art - at least when it came to the issues upon which this farce is based. We were enthralled to discover newspaper stories recently which have all the ingredients of Michael Pertwee's play; senior British government officials, younger women and lots of hanky-panky, all set against a background of newly-issued moral codes and a back-to-basics regime.

If you have any doubts about the relevance of this play just follow the news!

So for a few hours forget all your worries, sit back and relax as we prove to you all that, "Laughter is the best medicine."

Have a safe journey home.
