Talent flows
from "HOT TAPS"

Rehearsals for Wyong Drama Group's next production "Hot Taps" is in full swing and anyone interested in the play is invited to drop in to the Green Room at the rear of the Wyong Memorial Hall any Monday or Wednesday night from 7.30. sharp.

The play is directed by Peter Deane who introduced the Wyong public to "Caravan" a couple of years ago.

"Hot Taps" employs the themes the playwright has used in his last three plays... Australians playing against Australians, and driving each other mad to various degrees.

Local audiences will find a reflection of themselves in some of the chara played and if they don't see themselves on stage they are sure to recognise someone they know. Ronald Mac Donald characters always vividly reflect traits that make you both love and hate in a person.

The show opens on April 29 and 30 and then runs on the 1st, 6th, 7th and 8th of May.

Further information may be obtained from Peter Deane...4324-3807.
